The only reason I answered this—for what I'm unqualified for and also can't get to—is because anytime I hear or read about "Altoona, PA" I get reminders: I had a roommate at Lejeune who brought-up his hometown with nearly every topic under the sun—he never shut-up about "Altoona," even if what was discussed was Anthropology 101, KISS, The Space Shuttle, or how many bodies are on Mt. Everest—it often somehow soon became "Darwin's theory reminds of my hometown… Altoona, PA." I have no idea where Altoona is to this day—we have family in Pennsylvania plus this woman I picked-up in a bar who's also up there somewhere—but she's not in Altoona or I would have immediately dumped her. Sheetz I learned is headquartered in Altoona—when I read that my guess is Corporal "S" haunts his local Sheetz and whatever other Sheetz he's at—even if it's close—he probably tells them "My hometown of Altoona, Pennsylvania… That's Sheetz headquarters, you know—they made the right choice…" thanks aw
